Kojo started at Schwebel, Goetz & Sieben as a law clerk in 2015 and became an attorney at the firm in October, 2017. Kojo is a Wayzata High School alumnus and received his undergraduate degree in Communication Studies with a minor in Business Management from Gustavus Adolphus College. He obtained his juris doctorate from Mitchell Hamline School of Law.

Kojo's education, work, and volunteer experience has allowed him to hone the skills he relies on everyday to serve and advocate for his clients. Some of these skills include exceptional client service, case management, effective written and oral communication, presentation, advocacy, and being proactive.

Kojo has always had a heart for people and enjoys helping others navigate complicated and challenging life events by dedicating his legal career to serving injured people. He recognizes that he can leverage his passion for service, analytical abilities, and understanding of people to effectively advocate for those suffering and enduring traumatic and, often times, life altering injuries.

Kojo's commitment to service, justice, and advocacy, coupled with his compassionate and empathic nature ideally position him to serve injured people and their loved ones.

When Kojo is not in the office, he enjoys spending time with his family, sharing a meal with friends, trying his hand at a new recipe, or playing a pick-up game of some sort.
